CRAZED MOTHER TRIES TO DROWN 2 OF HER SONS

Weights Tied to Bodies and Children Thrown Into Watering Tank at Norwalk, Ohio—Rescued by Brother,
7, Who Is Bound, Locked In Granary

NORWALK, Ohio — (United Press) — How a seven-year-old boy rescued his two younger brothers, whom his insane mother was attempting to drown, was revealed today when the mother was taken to the state hospital at Toledo.

While the seven-year-old boy was bound hand and foot and locked in a granary, the two youngest, aged four years and 16 months, were also tied, and weights tied to their bodies.

Their crazed mother put the babies in a watering tank, members of the family told Judge J. M. Bechtol.

The youngster in the granary severed his bonds with an old saw, unlocked the granary door with a stick dragged his two brothers from the watering trough and summoned an older brother.

TWO INDICTED IN BRIBERY CASE

Gangsters Accused of Fixing
Len Small Jury

WAUKESHA, Ill. — (United Press) — Grand jurors investigating reported attempts to bribe the jury which acquitted Governor, Len Small, were asked to vote two new indictments today.

Late Monday, after hearing testimony of six witnesses, the grand jury voted indictments against Eddie Courtney and Eddie Kaufman, two Chicago gangsters. Courtney and Kaufman are alleged to have done the actual fixing. The indictments asked today were reported to hit at the "higher ups"—the men who are alleged to have paid Courtney and Kaufman.

Officials have sought Courtney and Kaufman for several weeks, but they are reported to have fled the country.

According to the story presented to the grand jurors Courtney and Kaufman are alleged to have been in Lake County in an automobile before the governor's trial calling on prospective veniremen and offering them money. One of the witnesses, before the grand jury was a venireman who admitted receiving a sum of money, according to persons in close touch with the investigation. Another witness, supposed to be a "go-between," told the grand jurors he received $1,000 to be paid a juror, but turned over only $350.

The alleged plot to "buy" the jury was reported formed in Chicago political circles and carried out by underworld characters.

Neither Governor Small, nor his close associates had any part in the plot, according to information in the hands of the investigators.

STINNES FAVORS U. S. FOR MEET

German Magnate Backs World
Economic Conference Plan

ROME — (Associated Press) — The American delegates to the Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce which closed here Saturday now have nearly all left Rome. Albert H. Gary, chairman of the United States delegation, who had a talk with Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial magnate during the latter's brief visit here just after the close of the conference, went to Naples yesterday and sailed thence for Spain.

Herr Stinnes left Rome last evening. The local press considers his coming due to the presence of so many influential figures of the commercial and financial world, the Americans especially, and that he was particularly interested in the American suggestion for the calling of an international conference with a view to solving the reparations, inter-allied debt and stabilization of exchange questions.

He is said to have expressed the belief that such a conference should be held in the United States as best adapted for the gathering because of its remoteness from the influences of the various conflicting European interests.

Herr Stinnes is reported to have seen Pope Pius and Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, but to have failed in his effort to contact Premier Mussolini, the latter, according to the German press, being too busy.

VOTE ON BEER IS DEMANDED

Gov. Smith Replies to Fess on Prohibition Question

SENATOR TAKES EXCEPTION

Objects to Modification Sought
by New York

ALBANY, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — Governor Smith today made public a letter replying to United States Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, who recently took exception to the action of the New York legislature in memorializing congress for modification of the Volstead act.

"We ask for a reasonable congressional interpretation of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage," was the keynote of the Governor's letter, which declared that New York state was not asking laxity in enforcement of the federal prohibition laws.

"We have had illegal traffic in liquors and official corruption," said the governor's letter. "The latter is clearly proven by the brevity of the official life of many that represent the government in the enforcement of the Volstead act and their summary removal or transfer from this district is usually under the shadow of suspicion. The moving pictures depicting the weekly news show a fleet of rum boats lying outside the three mile limit. The smuggling of whisky across the Canadian border has become a notorious abuse."

"People who for years were used to a harmless glass of beer have been put upon a whiskey diet."

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

"I am impressed by the figures that you give of the vote in your own State on 2.75 cent beer, as well as the vote of Michigan and California. Why not settle the question for all time and provide for that vote in every state with congress fixing 2.75 per cent as a maximum alcoholic content and allowing the popular vote to fix the minimum? That, surely, is democratic government."

"It is the voice of the people themselves and if that is not the essence of Democracy, then we had better turn the key in the door and go to bed."

The governor took Senator Fess to task for "intellectual intolerance," saying:

"The intellectual intolerance of those like yourself who favor theoretical total abstinence instead of genuine temperance is well illustrated in your own contribution."

"The New York legislature consisting of one Democratic and one Republican house exercises its traditional right to memorialize congress favoring the amendment of a federal statute."

ADMIT ROBBERIES

Two Cleveland Boys Confess Series of Burglaries

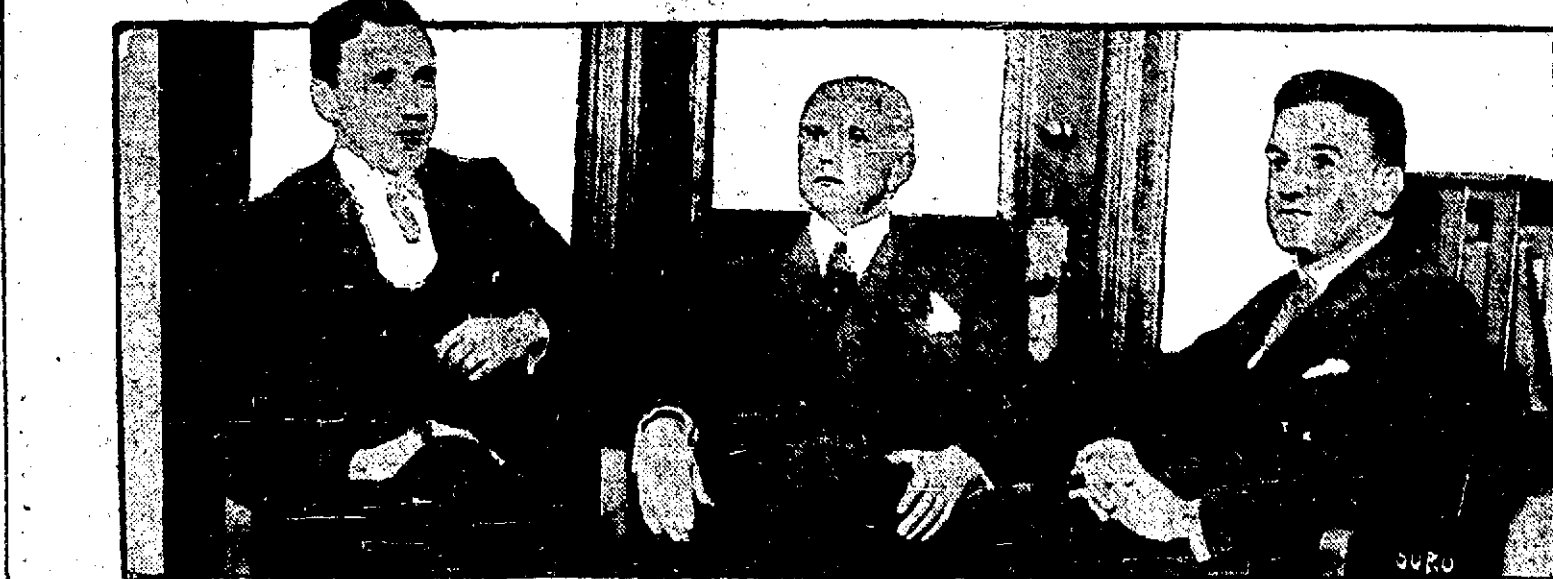

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — Two 16-year-old boys confessed to a series of 26 burglaries in the city Tuesday, having admitted to police between 25 and 30 burglaries of west side homes and stores, within the last few months, the police say.

Detectors who questioned the pair believe that practically all recent burglaries in that section which police have heretofore attributed to professionals were done by the youths.

PROBING INTO MYSTERY SLAYING OF NEW YORK MODEL

AUTO LICENSE FEE CUT PLANNED

Linked With Gasoline Tax Bill
Before Ohio Assembly

FIGHT ON FOR 2 CENT LEVY

Measure Comes up in House for Action Today

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — The gasoline excise tax bill by Representative Brown, Republican, of Champlain, was to undergo another effort to pass it in the house of representatives late today.

In an effort to save the proposed two-cent tax, Mr. Brown has prepared an amendment which he will offer, providing for a reduction of fifty per cent in the present automobile license fees as applied to pleasure cars. This proposed reduction in the license fees, while not as much as contemplated by the amendment proposed last week by Representative Knapp, Republican, of Medina, Ohio, fixing a flat rate of $5 for each pleasure car, will, Mr. Brown believes, appease many of the opponents of the two-cent tax.

FEES FOR ROADS

Under the proposed Brown amendment, the license fees, amounting to about $4,000,000 a year, would go to the highway department in its entirety for road repair, cities and local subdivisions getting 20 cents from this source against $1,000,000 under the present license fee.

The two-cent gasoline tax contemplated to raise $6,000,000 all would go to the cities and counties, making these subdivisions the gainer by approximately $2,000,000 over the amount now received from automobiles.

The two-cent gasoline tax with the proposed fifty per cent reduction in license fees thus would yield approximately $2,000,000 more than now is yielded by the license tax. Should the Brown amendment fail, it is expected that an effort will be made to obtain approval of the Knapp amendment. It is believed to be doubtful if proponents of a gasoline tax would accept a one-cent tax with either the Brown or the Knapp amendments.

The senate was to take up for passage today the Taft tax bill which fixes rate limitation of 17 mills in municipalities and 14 mills in rural districts.

SUICIDE IS FOILED

Cleveland Woman Prevented from Jumping in River

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — A 21-year-old woman, the mother of two small children, attempted to commit suicide by leaping into Cuyahoga river from the guard rail on Central Viaduct this morning, but was saved by a pedestrian who seized her as she was about to jump.

At police headquarters she gave her name as Mrs. Frances Majewski, and said she wanted to end her life because her husband had "treated her mean."

She had climbed to the guard rail and was poised for a leap into the river 110 feet below when the passerby seized her.

HARDINGS WILL SPEND
EASTER AT AUGUSTA, GA.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — President and Mrs. Harding expect to spend Easter in Augusta, Ga. Preliminary arrangements were being made today for departure of the presidential vacation party from St. Augustine Saturday. How long Mr. and Mrs. Harding will stay in Augusta has not been decided. After a shower last night St. Augustine was bright with sunshine—an ideal day for golf and the president planned to take advantage of it.

Members of the party pointed to the president's 36 holes of golf yesterday as proof of his physical condition having been greatly improved by the three weeks rest.

BERNHARDT'S AMERICAN KIN NOT SORRY OF DEATH

Half Brother, Living in Oklahoma,
Gives Family History

ESTRANGED FOR MANY YEARS

Sister Refused to Extend Helping Hand, He Says

MCALISTER, Okla. — (Associated Press) — A story that delves back into the mists that obscure the early life of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt is told by old Joseph Bernhardt who has mended McAlister's shoes and furniture for the last quarter century.

Joseph Bernhardt says the famous actress was his half sister. They were estranged many years ago—he tells it—and, pottering about his little shop today, he vowed he felt no sorrow at the news of the passing of the "Divine Sarah."

The Bernhards are a strong tempered people, says old Joseph, and he declared he cannot forgive Sarah for her treatment of him as a youth when she could have extended to him a helping hand, but refused.

Joseph Bernhardt told the story of his blood relationship to the famous actress when he came to McAlister 25 years ago and it has stood refuted. Sarah Bernhardt was the second daughter of Pierre Bernhardt, born of his first wife, according to Joseph. He gives the history of the Bernhardt family as follows:

DRANK BROTHER'S MILK
The father, Pierre Bernhardt, was of Swiss descent. There were two daughters, Jeanne and Sarah, born of his first wife, and Rachel and myself were born of his second wife. Rachel was two years older than I and Sarah was 13 years older than myself.

"Being the oldest I devolved upon Jeanne when mother died in mother the family. She was kind and good to me but Sarah, even when I was little, mistreated me. She used to drink up half my milk and fill the bottle with water. Jeanne would scold her but Sarah was always headstrong."

"I was with the Catholic sisters in Paris for a long time after my mother died. Then I came back and lived with the girls until I was taken to live with my grandmother in Germany."

GERMAN DESCENT
Both Pierre Bernhardt's wives were of German descent. All the Bernhards were born in Paris except Sarah. She was born while her mother and father were on a visit to Germany. I was told that they made every effort to reach French soil before Sarah's birth."

At six Bernhardt says he entered a show, doubling as a boy and a girl. Within a year he was brought to America. "It was in Wheeling, W. Va., that Sarah and I had our big fight. It came near being more than a fight with words."

Sarah was just as high tempered as I am.

"Sarah received me in her rooms and I told her I thought it was as little as she could do to send me to school for a year or two. I was in the show business then. I told her that I had not had a chance and that I at least wanted a business course. The way Sarah snapped me off made me mad and I told her in words, perhaps too harsh, that I hoped I would never lay my eyes upon her again."

"We parted in anger and have never had a conversation since that day. I have seen her several times since, but we were both too stubborn to give in and have been strangers since. Another thing that turned me against Sarah. I asked her about father and she seemed afraid that I was going to turn him up and report how she treated me. She refused to give any information about the family."

"A few years ago Sarah sent one of her company here to make overtures but I told him that if anything was done, Sarah would have to make her own overtures."

ARTIST'S TIRADE APPLAUDED

YOUNGSTOWN — (Associated Press) — The death of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has recalled to theatregoers here an incident which occurred when the great actress played in a Youngstown theatre, 20 years ago. Angered by something in the attitude of the audience—the cause never was explained—Mme. Bernhardt burst into a tirade against her hearers. As she spoke in French, of course, the audience thought it was part of the play, and at the conclusion of her outburst the house broke into a storm of applause.

PARIS STUNNED BY ACTRESS' DEATH

Sarah Bernhardt Regarded as Almost Immortal

PARIS — (Associated Press) — All France mourns today for her well-beloved daughter, Sarah Bernhardt is dead.

Paris is stunned, scarcely believing that she who was regarded as almost immortal in more than one sense of the word has passed away. It seems not too much to say that not since the death of Victor Hugo has France been stirred so deeply.

As the Academie de France observes in Figure Bernhardt probably shares with Hugo and Pasteur distinction of being the most illustrious persons in the last hundred years of French history. "Divine Sarah" was undoubtedly one of the greatest actresses of French art and literature who ever lived.

STAGE TRIBUTE
The public which idolized her and which she in turn held so close to her heart, should have lingered reverently in the soft spring night outside the house in the boulevard Peretie where she lived for 38 years, sharing the vigil with the family within.

At Bernhardt's death the theatres were closed and the people of the stage to pay tribute to their illustrious comrade. Among them were Sacha Guitry, the playwright who had a filial respect for Bernhardt; Cecile Sorel, Rachel Boyer and a host of other stars. Included in the number also was James Hackett who, according to L'Eclair, called President Harding requesting him to announce officially to the people of the United States the death of "the greatest artist in the world."

BODY AMID FLOWERS
Bernhardt lies on her bed covered by the flowers she loved so well. Tall candles burn at either side and at the foot of the couch, and in accordance with French custom, a crucifix and a bowl of holy water stand on a little table nearby.

The desire to be buried with the grounds of her house at Belle Isle, a romantic spot atop storm-torn cliffs that overlook the Atlantic. However, it has not yet been decided whether she will be laid to rest there or in the family tomb in Pere La Chaise cemetery. Hackett, who, in any event there will be an impressive ceremony in Paris on either Thursday or Friday and there is a strong sentiment in favor of holding this at the expense of the nation.

As an officer of the Legion of Honor, Bernhardt is entitled to burial with military honors but the public feels that she should be interred with the pomp befitting her incalculable services to French art.

It has been arranged that the body shall lie in state at the home beginning late this afternoon.

The funeral probably will be held at the Church of St. Francois de Sales, but inasmuch as this is "the week of the dead" preceding Easter there can be no high mass.

RED HOLT MUST DIE IN CHAIR

Slayer of Policeman Loses Fight

HAWKE DISBARMENT STANDS

Phone Rate Order Reversed—
Other Decisions

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Noble (Red) Holt who was convicted of first degree murder for the murder of a Cincinnati policeman, must die in the electric chair, the decision of the lower courts in the case.

The disbarment of George S. Hawke, Cincinnati attorney, was affirmed by the supreme court today.

The case was carried to the higher court by Hawke.

Hawke still has pending in the supreme court suit in mandamus to compel the Hamilton-co judges to reinstate him.

The court decided two cases involving Hawke's disbarment today and in both instances held against him. In one he sought to have a decision of the court of appeals reviewed. The appellate court had decided that it had no jurisdiction to consider an appeal in disbarment proceedings entered in the common pleas court. In the other case, Hawke sought to attain an injunction against the common pleas court to prevent it carrying out its disbarment order.

Attorney Hawke was disbarred by the Hamilton county common pleas court because of alleged unprofessional conduct.

PHONE RATES
The supreme court today reversed the order of the state public utilities commission in re-establishing without hearing the old rates of the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone Company after the supreme court had held invalid the proposed zoning scheme established by the telephone company.

After the zoning system which had been approved by the utilities commission had been knocked out by the supreme court, the utilities commission to proceed with a hearing and fix new rates. This contention of the supreme court upheld in its decision today.

The zoning system which the court previously had declared void proposed a division of the Cincinnati district section by the company into zones, toll charges being made on calls to outlying suburbs.

PERSONAL INJURY CASES
The Ohio supreme court today held that state courts are without jurisdiction to hear personal injury cases resulting from accidents in other states on railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

The question came into the court from Cuyahoga-co in two cases in which William Loftis sought damages from the Pennsylvania railroad and George W. Lullinger, as administrator, sought damages from the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroads. Both accidents had occurred in Pennsylvania.

Lower courts had held against the plaintiffs and the supreme court affirmed their action.

Whether a proprietor of a gold fish "ranch" has the lawful and undisputed right to kill kingfishers that persist in feeding upon his "herd" is a fit question to be decided in full judicial manner, the supreme court held today in deciding to hear the appeal of T. D. Widmer of Alliance.

The kingfishers (a species of speckled bird with long beak and long legs) Widmer contends, were catching and devouring his gold fish. He erected scarecrows but not in the of the crow species, the kingfishers were not shooed away by them.

WILL BE QUIZZED IN KEENAN DEATH

Attorney General's Offspring
Threatened by Blackmailers

FRIEND OF MODEL, REPORT

Nothing to Conceal, Gang
Defied by Young Man

NEW YORK — (United Press) — Assistant District Attorney Fred Pecora stated today he will summon to his office, in connection with investigation of the murder of Dorothy Keenan, Draper Mr. Daugherty, son of Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States.

"My only information concerning Mr. Draper Daugherty's connection with the case comes from the press," Pecora said. "But if I can locate Mr. Daugherty today, I shall most certainly ask him to come to my office for a conference."

At the Elks Club, Daugherty's New York address, the attorney general's son could not be found.

THREATENED BY GANG
The same gang of blackmailers that killed Miss King is reported to have threatened Daugherty, although he had done nothing which he feared to have revealed. They told him they would expose his friendship for the girl, according to statements attributed to him in New York papers today.

Daugherty, having nothing to conceal, defied them and offered to give the authorities any information in his possession.

Interest in the case which had begun about the person of a Keeney state supreme court today affirming the decision of the lower courts in the case.

The disbarment of George S. Hawke, Cincinnati attorney, was affirmed by the supreme court today.

GLAD TO TALK
Pecora has no official knowledge that Daugherty was even acquainted with the girl. All he has to go on are published articles and a purported interview with the attorney general's son in which he is quoted as saying frankly that he knew Miss King, that their friendship was entirely proper in every respect and that he would be glad to tell the authorities anything that would help them.

When Pecora saw this, although he had no previous official intimation to link Daugherty with the case, he deemed it sufficiently important to warrant his statement that he would ask the man to call on him at his office today.

Pecora will probably ask Daugherty to name the man who, according to the version given by publicity here, telephoned him twice and demanded that he be given a job with the department of justice intimating that otherwise he would tell about Daugherty's alleged friendship with the "Broadway Butterfly."

Identification of this man, it is believed, may lead to the gang which plotted to "shake down" Mitchell, Philadelphia millionaire and chloroform Miss King when she refused to act as the bait.

Mitchell, who was involved in the case in revelations made by Pecora, has been in Washington today, waiting to meet his wife who is en route from Palm Beach to Philadelphia in the private car of E. T. Stoenburg, his millionaire father-in-law.

KILLING IS PROBED

Girl Shot by Student—Claimed to be Accidental

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich. — A judicial inquiry into the death of Thelma St. Marie, 19-year-old Canadian girl, who was shot late yesterday by Filmore Heikilla, high school student, will be conducted by the coroner today. Miss Dent was formerly Mrs. Randall Boyer, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., having resumed her maiden name after the separation.

The shooting occurred in the house where Miss Dent was staying. She was combing her hair when Heikilla fired the gun. The bullet entered behind the right ear and death was instantaneous. Heikilla, a prominent high school athlete, said he did not know the gun was loaded. He said he and the girl had not quarreled. He was arrested, but was released, pending the outcome of the inquiry.

Hail, Easter Bunny!
Eggs at 25c in Lima

Nicer to live in Lima today than in Cleveland or some of the larger cities.

Reason? Look at the price of eggs. Twenty-five cents the dozen here for nice fresh ones, direct from the country. It's the lowest price in months and is joy to folks who are anticipating a hen fruit feast at Easter time.

It's a bit different in Cleveland. Prices there range from 35 to 45 cents—and maybe they aren't fresh.

FINAL DRIVE ON DOGS PLANNED

Deputies to Collect Canine License Fees Over County

THREE AIDES ARE NAMED

Move to Collect $2,000 Will Begin Monday

Special deputies will take the field Monday to collect delinquent dog taxes in outlying towns, Sheriff Harvey Crosson announced Tuesday.

"We are going to give ample warning," he declared, "and give everyone a chance to pay. No need for them to come to Lima. The county needs the money and is going right out after it."

Three special deputies, according to Crosson's plan, will visit every village and hamlet in the county Monday and Tuesday, April 2 and 3. They will be empowered to accept money for dog licenses and take descriptions of the canines. They will turn their collections over to Auditor C. H. Phillips, along with the name of the owner. Phillips will mail out a tag and a receipt.

$2,000 STILL OUT
It is believed that more than $2,000 will be added to the county coffers by going after the money. The collectors will make their headquarters at the postoffice in each town. The three collectors are W. H. Durbin, C. H. Baxter and E. H. Jones.

Monday, Durbin will be at the Westminster postoffice between the hours of 8 and 9:30 a. m.; at West Newton postoffice from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. and at Harrod from 1 to 5 p. m. Tuesday, April 3, collections will be made in Lafayette, from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. and at Beavertown from 1 to 5 p. m.

Baxter will accept dog tax money in Spencerville all day Monday. On Tuesday he will be in Carey, from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.; in Coner, from 11:30 to 12:30 p. m. and at Elida from 1 to 5 p. m.

E. H. Jones will make collection at Delphos postoffice all day Monday and at Bluffton on Tuesday.

MAY PAY HERE

Any persons in Lima who have not paid dog tax and desire to do so, can pay their money to Auditor C. H. Phillips at the courthouse, or one of his assistants, will take the money and hand out a nice metal tag and a receipt in return.

By going into each township, owners of dogs will be given a last chance to pay up without the trouble of coming into Lima.

Within a few days, the three deputies, headed by Frank Killian, humane officer, will start a tour of the county with a wagon. They will impound all unlicensed dogs. If the tax is not paid in three days, the animals will be destroyed.

COMMERCE BOARD FAVORS INCREASED COMPENSATION; UPHOLDS BLUE SKY LAW

At the meeting of the Board of Commerce Monday evening it was decided unanimously to approve the Kumer-Reyman compensation bill now before the Ohio legislature. The bill provides an amendment to the present workman's compensation law, raising the weekly liability of employer from $15 to $18.75 and increase the death compensation limit from $5,000 to $5,500, with the possibility of an additional $3,950 if death results from the employer's culpability.

Opposing the Kumer-Reyman bill is the Gardner bill which permits issuance of insurance by liability companies and does not carry provision for the additional $3,250. It raises the weekly limit to only $18. The Kumer-Reyman bill has been approved by state labor organizations and by the state manufacturers' association.

Members of the board also voted to oppose the proposed change in the blue sky law.

HUSBAND IS LAZY, WIFE ALLEGES IN PETITION

Married life proved to be a nursing job for Mrs. Nora E. Stalder, according to allegations she makes in a divorce petition filed in court Tuesday.

Altho able bodied, John W. Stalder, 34, says, played the patient role, she says. His meals were consumed in bed, the wife carrying the food up from the kitchen on a tray.

That was breakfast and luncheon she declares. Dinner, or supper as it is termed in St. Marys, was eaten in the dining room. After that, Stalder went forth in search for amusement, the plaintiff says, leaving her at home.

They have one child, Donald one year. The marriage was performed three years ago. Mrs. Stalder has three children by a former marriage. She avers her present mate mistreated her one time hitting Carlisle Goubeau, her eldest son, in the face with his fist.

Alimony is asked by the plaintiff.

AUTO CLUB TO ASSUME TASKS IN CITY'S AID

The Lima Automobile club will pay for the hire of labor to mark the public square for automobile parking. It was announced Tuesday.

Paint for the marking has been purchased by the city, but Manager Bingham informed the club there is no money to pay for the work. The club has agreed to assume the burden. Bingham requests the club to buy a marker for use on smooth streets.

The club may also take charge of the parking of motor buses running in and out of Lima, at request of the city manager.

PRIMARY ON TODAY
BATON ROUGE, La.—The first primary in Louisiana in which the Ku Klux Klan has been involved as a political issue is being held today in the first supreme court district. It is the election of twelve parishes to make an associate justice to fill the place of an associate justice who died in 1924.

"FAIR, COLDER," FIXED FORECAST

With good reason therefore, a suspicion is growing that the weatherman has developed a bad habit. He has become so accustomed to saying "fair and colder," it seems almost impossible for him to frame his forecasts in any other sort of language.

However, he has been justified by later developments. In other words, his predictions have come true the most part of the way—lately. Infallibility isn't a part of the forecasters code of ethics. He makes no pretensions along that line, therefore he isn't surprised or disappointed when he "misses it" occasionally.

Generally fair and colder tonight and Wednesday. Forecast for the immediate future. Rather short and to the point. Probably means what he says and wants to be emphatic about it. No ifs or ands in the current prediction.

Ted doesn't care. It's time for him to gamble in the open and he's at it. The prognosticator is probably right in his prediction. Don't wish him any bad luck, but hope he's wrong.

INHERITS $50,000, THARP FACES REVIVAL OF COURT ORDER FOR $1,000 ALIMONY

Inheritance of $50,000 by Tunka Tharp, carpenter, 122 E. Wayne-st. Thursday may enable Naomi Tharp to collect a long dormant judgment of $1,000 awarded as alimony when she was divorced in common pleas court six years ago.

Until wealth was thrust upon her former husband, there was nothing upon which collection could be made, she asserts. But wealth which came to Tharp brought also a revival of the alimony judgment.

He filed a motion in common pleas court seeking to have the award set aside. Tuesday he dismissed the motion. The action was followed by a court order reviving the award for Mrs. Tharp.

An execution was issued against Tharp's property.

HOUSE OF DAVID BACKED BY MORE WITNESSES

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Further testimony to refute the charges of fraud and immorality brought against the Israelite House of David by John W. Hunsell, a former member, who seeks a financial settlement in the sum of $50,000, was offered in federal court here today. Up to today the defense had called a dozen witnesses each upholding their "faith" as follows of Benjamin Purnell, and some attempting to discredit the charges by testifying the cause an attempt at blackmail by disgruntled ex-members. One witness declared the sum was the outgrowth of a "closed" and "meeting at Detroit" at which he declared, a plot was laid to gain possession of the cult's property and set up a new colony, of which Hunsell was to be the head, at Nashville, Tenn.

KIRKSVILLE, Missouri.—(Associated Press).—It was learned that a shortage of approximately $460,000 exists in the accounts of the Kirksville Trust Company.

The cashier, Leonie F. Gibbs, committed suicide in the bank vault, March 10.

Gibbs carried $600,000 life insurance and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Gibbs, who were the beneficiaries have assigned $500,000 of the amount to protect depositors.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES START SCRAPING OF NETWORK OF ROADS

Road activities in Allen-co. for 1923 were commenced Monday and Tuesday, when township trustees put drags and scrapers to work leveling and smoothing highways, cut up by heavy winter traffic.

Reports made to the county commissioners show that townships in the county are putting the highways in shape as rapidly as possible. The trustees, they say, plan to take care of township roads only.

County road crews, under direction of Walter R. Toy, county surveyor, will start on the main roads in the county early in April.

Among the routes to be taken care of first are High-st road, Spencer-ville-rd, Bellefontaine-rd, and Allen-town-rd.

An independent paving program also may be attempted by the county this year, as no state aid seems to be forthcoming.

Among the improvements contemplated are completion of a unit of the Harding highway from Wright's crossing into Delphos, by surfacing and paving of Delphos-av in Lima.

RAILROAD MAN KIDNAPED BY ESCAPED PRISONERS

ATLANTA, Ga.—Two prisoners confined in the hospital at the federal prison near here sawed their way to freedom early today, stopped at the home of W. H. Edwards, a railroad man in Lakewood Heights and when he refused to aid in their escape, kidnapped him, brought him on a street car to the city where they left the car and made good their escape.

The escaped prisoners are Frank Grey, serving five years for forgery and Gerald Chapman, under sentence of 25 years for mail robbery, both committed from New York city.

According to the reports to the police, the men sawed their way out of the hospital and proceeded to the home of Edwards, not far distant.

Edwards told the police the men who were dressed in the blue uniform of the prison, offered him $1,000 to drive them out of the county and when he refused they seized him, took off his coat and forced him to accompany them on a street car bound for Atlanta.

This Bran Food acts in a gentle, natural way to Relieve Constipation

NATURE never intended us to take purgatives and drastic medicines, in order to rid the system of its debris.

A natural stimulus is provided by bran and the outer coverings of cereals.

Many bran foods prepared for corrective purposes are un-appetizing. But now, for the first time, you can get a delicious bran cereal food, Post's Bran Flakes, made of sterilized, thoroughly cooked wheat bran with which are retained the more valuable portions of the wheat berry, including its essential mineral elements.

The special process preserves practically the full vitamin content of the wheat.

Post's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat comes in appetizing flaked form, with definite food value, and a delicate flavor that commends it for its taste alone. The food promotes natural action, without irritation. It stirs the sluggish bowels to perform their duty of elimination.

Try this delicious bran food for breakfast—tomorrow, with milk or cream, or with sliced or cooked fruit, and see how appetite and health are taken care of.

KING IS PREY TO BITTER GRIEFS

Greek Ruler is Lonely, Disconsolate Young Man

BURDENED WITH TROUBLES

Under Constant Watch by Revolutionary Committee

ATHENS—(Associated Press)—Americans who have recently visited the palace describe King George as a lonely, disconsolate young man. The utter collapse of the Greek army, the Smyrna catastrophe, the unexampled misery of hundreds of thousands of refugees, the internal convulsions in Greece, the execution of the former cabinet members, and the overthrow and subsequent death of his father, King Constantine, have left a deep impress on the youthful monarch. Added to these troubles is the continued delicate health of his wife, Princess Elizabeth of Romania, whose life more than once has been in danger.

The King is closely watched by the revolutionary committee, and all his official acts must have its approval. The latest step of this stern and uncompromising body was to request two of the late King Constantine's estates so that they would not fall into the hands of his successor, the present king.

The committee also seized the splendid palace at Corfu built by William Hohenzollern, and for many years used by the Greek royal family as a summer home. The palace is now occupied as a hospital by the American Near East Relief organization. The use of the building for the treatment of contagious diseases has greatly grieved the king, and he has appealed to the Americans to secure other quarters.

Many restrictions are put upon the new sovereign by the revolutionary regime that is little more than a figurehead. The Greek people always have been uncertain and fickle in their political and dynastic leanings, and they seem to be quite indifferent to the young king. As a factor in the affairs of the government, American observers declare, King George is quite negligible. He spends all his time in seclusion at the palace, receiving old friends, handing out decorations, and signing documents prepared by the revolutionary government.

Recent visitors to the palace report him as being eager to give up the lonely and uncertain job of king. But he is too well aware of the fact that any such action would probably lose the throne to the present royal family, which is of Danish-Cerman-Russian origin. The next in line of succession to the kingship is young Prince Paul. But many persons believe George will be Greece's last sovereign, as a noticeable sentiment for a republic is developing among the Greek people. Greece, indeed, is so stunned and prostrated by recent events that she is rather indifferent as to who shall take the reins of government. The people seem willing to give the present revolutionary government the fullest opportunity of getting Greece out of the mire of commercial, military and national prostration. But they are not at all sure that the committee will be equal to its enormous and difficult task. They are also willing to continue George as their king so long as he does not go beyond his constitutional limitations, and avoids the fatal foreign alliances of his father, the late King Constantine.

Greatest of all Greece's hopes is a loan from the United States. Without this assistance she can hardly rehabilitate her ruined fortunes, her shattered army, her tottering economic fabric. Twelve years of inter-mitted war, of mal-administration, of unfortunate foreign policies and of continued dynastic changes have left the country and people in a state of despair.

Big hats, little hats, plain ones and fancy—they're all represented in the Easter display. There's only one requirement—this season's hats must be becoming and must have some individual little touch that makes it YOUR hat. For street wear you probably want little brim and little trimming. Your picture hat may go as far as it likes with both. These fashions from Paris give an idea of what will be seen this spring.

HARDING SILENT ON SUGAR PROBE

Action Demanded by People's Legislative Service Head

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Further steps will be taken by the People's Legislative Service, to force governmental action against alleged sugar govt., unless a definite move is made by a federal agency within a few days, Basil M. Manley, head of the service, said today. Manley stated he had not received a reply to his telegram, President Harding, asking for an immediate grand jury investigation of the sugar market manipulations during the last six weeks, which have driven up the prices of sugar 3 to 4 cents.

Assurances somewhat vague, are given that investigations are under way, but the people of the country don't want long drawn out investigations," said Manley. "They want action, prosecution of those responsible for this huge gouge."

"Further steps will be taken by the People's Legislative Service to force action, unless the government soon shows some sign of making a positive move in the matter."

At the department of justice today it was said that no instructions had been received from President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty regarding the sugar investigation but that the inquiry instituted several weeks ago was progressing satisfactorily.

Likewise there was no information as to future moves of the federal trade commission or the department of commerce.

It became known today that the department in some communication concerning the meeting in Havana early this year of eastern bankers holding large quantities of sugar, paper and certain Cuban products.

Charges have been made by the legislative service that plans were framed at this meeting to drive up sugar prices.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure a cough and you'll have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

SCIENCE DEFEATS TIME CLOCK

Punching Order Modified By Secretary Wallace

WASHINGTON—(Special)—Dirt farmer methods may be effective in some parts of the Department of Agriculture—

But Science has triumphed over the Time Clock.

Secretary Wallace has modified his order to make all employees of the department punch the time clock. The scientists have won exemption.

Announcement of the clock method didn't get an enthusiastic shout from the internationally prominent men whose scientific work has saved millions to farmers every year and reduced life loss all over the world. They declared a regimen of getting to work at 9, taking half an hour off for lunch and working again until 4:30 impaired their work.

The scientists argued that they had become accustomed to their own methods of research and study. They cited that much of their most valuable work was done late at night. And furthermore, they let it be known that the scientific mind depends upon the mood, not the number of working hours, for its effectiveness.

Wallace, declined to give in at first. He insisted all bureau chiefs should be at their desks promptly at 9, as he always is. But he is now mitigating the severity of the ruling for the scientific men.

HUSBAND INDOLENT, WIFE AVERS IN DIVORCE SUIT

Indolent habits of Paul M. Ridinger, 24, coupled with his refusal to provide her with a home or support, drove Mrs. Pauline Ridinger to seek marital freedom, she asserts in a divorce petition filed in common pleas court Tuesday.

They were married June 10, 1920, and separated May 25, 1922. The defendant has no property, the wife asserts. Because of his alleged disinclination for toil, the plaintiff represents that she has been dependent upon relatives and her own efforts for support.

Ridinger is also accused of using vile and profane language in addressing the plaintiff. Mrs. Ridinger asks for the restoration of her former name, Pauline Johnson.

CONVICTED HINDU SUES FOR HIS LIFE IN COURT OF EQUITY; STAYS DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO.—(Special).—What will be the future of capital punishment cases now that life has been placed on a property basis?

This question soon will be echoing about the nation as the result of a legal decision that has no parallel in world history.

Stripped of technical wording, it has been decided by Judge James M. Trout that ONE: A man's life is his most important possession.

TWO: That a man can go into a court of equity to fight for his pig or his barn or some other possession, so why can he not fight for life, his rarest possession, in a court of equity?

THREE: If this attitude is taken, a man sentenced to die may be saved by means of the injunction invoked as in other property actions.

And by this decision the gallows at San Quentin prison were heated to the neck of Ullah Mohammed, a Hindu.

All criminal courts had been appealed to. It had been shown fraud had been practiced by witnesses.

The governor was appealed to. He refused a reprieve. But a few days remained before the noose would choke an innocent man.

Then Attorney William Grant decided upon an eleventh-hour appeal in a court of equity to have the death sentence set aside on the ground of fraudulent testimony.

DELPHOS PAVING PROJECT REVIVED FOR FOURTH-ST

Rumblings Are Heard as Council Meeting Nears

MATERIAL IS CHEAPER NOW

Work Was Checked in 1919 When Prices Soared

Rumblings of more paving matters are heard as Delphos city council prepares to start the legislative grid Tuesday night, the first meeting in many months that does not hold forth promise of strife.

The rumblings, however, are different from those that ricked council in the past, in that they indicate a favorable attitude toward construction of municipal improvements.

Council Tuesday night may be waited upon by a committee of Fourth-st property owners, seeking legislation for improvement of that thoroughfare.

Paving on this street was checked in 1919 when property owners decided that the cost of materials was too steep. A petition for improvement was presented almost simultaneously with those from S. Main, S. Pierce, N. Pierce and Cleveland-sts.

The legislation proceeded as far as the ordinance determining to proceed with the project.

Now various property owners have indicated their desire to turn over the matter with council again and determine whether a start can be made on the paving this summer.

Discussion of S. Franklin-st paving also may take place, according to officials. There has been considerable discussion of it, admitted, over Section 3814 of the General Code, making it possible for council to proceed with improvements after proper condemnation proceedings.

Should S. Franklin-st be included in the program for this summer, all main approaches to the new Delphos city park will be paved. The board of control will soon receive bids for improvement of S. Main, S. Pierce and Cleveland-sts.

EAGLES' COMMITTEE TO DECIDE DONATION FOR DELPHOS CITY PARK

A committee from Delphos Aeris, F. O. Eagles, went over the ground Monday afternoon with the Kiwanis park committee to secure data relative to a donation the lodge will make.

The lodge committee, M. B. Lindemann, Louis Oelberg, and W. H. Shaffer, will report at a general meeting sometime in the near future and will advise the Eagles concerning the nature of the contribution.

Estimates of the cost of laying out a baseball diamond and tennis courts will be secured and presented to the order for acceptance or rejection. Secretary W. H. Shaffer declared.

It is not positive that the Eagles' donation will be a baseball diamond and tennis courts. The tentative construction schedule for the park, however, calls for a donation of that kind from the lodge. Whatever the lodge does, officials declare, will be a valuable addition to the park.

Provided a diamond and tennis courts are laid out, other recreational facilities at the park will be built around them. Promoters of the park movement see possibilities of one of the finest and best equipped playgrounds in Ohio.

ONLY ONE RESIDENCE LACKS MAIL RECEPTACLE

Almost a 100 per cent score has been made by Delphos in the matter of city residents in providing mail receptacles, according to a report made to the postal department by Postmaster E. B. Truesdale, Delphos.

Only one mail patron of the city has failed to provide himself with something in which the carrier may deposit mail. The report was compiled by Truesdale upon a request by the postal department.

DELPHOS GARDENERS PREPARE FOR SEASON

Production of lettuce, radishes, onions and all the other truck supplied by the little city backyard garden has been started in Delphos.

Frank Gerdegan, W. First-st, is believed to be the first to commence operations. He has had his garden spaced.

Application to farm ten acres of land owned by the city just outside the northern corporation line, known as the dumping grounds, has already been filed with Service Director Ed Spellman. It is a suggestion that tillage operations have begun when application is made to farm this land. Practically eight acres of it is tillable.

GOVERNMENT REQUESTS PAINTING, LETTERING OF RURAL MAIL BOXES

Government postal authorities desire a little spring renovating on the part of rural mail patrons.

In an item of the government postal bulletin received Tuesday morning by Postmaster Ed Truesdale of Delphos a request is made that rural residents paint and otherwise make their mail boxes presentable.

Heretofore boxes have been unsatisfactory in appearance, owing to the galvanizing wearing off and exposing the base metals, the bulletin says.

White paint is preferred, with the name of the head of the family painted on both sides in letters at least high. Annual painting also is desired. Posts or other supports should also be painted, the bulletin advises.

Rural mail boxes may be renovated in anticipation of the postmaster's semi-annual inspection tour sometime in April.

While renovation is not compulsory, each patron should take pride in his mail receptacle, postal authorities point out. Mail service may only be refused in event boxes are unserviceable or inconveniently placed.

DELPHOS OFFICIALS ASK BIDS FOR PAVING BLOCK FOR THREE THOROFARES

Mention of wood block was eliminated from a notice to receive bids for paving of three Delphos streets—S. Main, S. Pierce and Cleveland—advertising of which was begun by Service Director Ed Spellman, Tuesday.

That material figured in the strife between council, the board of control and property owners which was eliminated recently. Property owners secured a permanent injunction against a wood block contract last summer.

Despite the fact that it is not mentioned along with vitrified brick, willite, reinforced concrete and asphaltic concrete, it is taken care of in the portion of the advertisement which reads "or any other suitable material" in the advertising, Spellman explained.

Bids will be received at the office of the service director until noon on April 19.

The triple improvement is estimated at 23,213 square yards of paving and 11,680 lineal feet of curbing, or more than two miles.

DELPHOS ASSESSORS GET INSTRUCTIONS, SUPPLIES

Assessors from the third and fourth wards, Delphos, and Washington-st met Tuesday morning with Van Wert co assessors at the courthouse to receive their instructions and supplies.

TOURIST PARK PROPOSED BY SPEAKER AT DELPHOS

Value of a tourist park in connection with municipal places of recreation was stressed Tuesday noon at a luncheon meeting of the Delphos Kiwanis club by Harry Allen, of Bellefontaine, who has assembled data on that sort of enterprise in the east.

It is proposed to set aside part of the Delphos city park for use by cross country motor travelers. Members of St. John's basketball team were guests of the club. Progress was reported by the committee back of the community fair, a projected of April 18 and 19.

Special programs will be given at many of the churches, Easter Sunday.

Young Lochinvar Only Romancing

A young Lochinvar rode out of the west Monday night and had his "steed" appropriated by police while he was seeking his best girl.

Patrolmen Humphreys and Wagner brought it to police headquarters following complaint of a W. Fourth-st woman, who reported the queer actions of Lochinvar alarmed her. He parked on Fourth-st, went east and then north on Jefferson, she said.

At 1 a. m. Tuesday a young Van Wert man came to headquarters to claim his steed. Questioning by police elicited the information that he was simply out romancing.

HORSE BOLTS, FARMER JUMPS TO SAFETY FROM CAREENING VEHICLE

Anthony Pohlman, farmer, residing near Delphos, jumped to safety

Monday afternoon as the horse he was driving galloped madly thru E. Second-st in a spectacular runaway. The horse fell at a point about a mile east of Delphos and became frightened. Pohlman retained his seat in the buggy until the animal reached the pavement on E. Second st. near the Steidle ice company plant, where it broke from the vehicle, carrying the shafts with it. The animal careened down the street and brought up against the street curbing 25 feet east of the City building, where it fell and was slightly injured.

BANDITS IN PITCHED BATTLE WITH POSSE

HAIR STAYS BOBBED--AND BANGED

ATLANTA, Ga., (Special).—Don't be too hasty girls, in deciding to put up your bobbed hair.

You'll find you'll have to cut it anyway, to keep stride with fashion. In fact, you'll have to cut the front down to bangs if you would be up to the minute in hair style.

That's the word Atlanta society leaders have brought back here from the Florida winter resorts. The wave of bobbed hair has already reached this city and is moving northward and westward with remarkable rapidity.

There are two styles of bangs—the straight, a la Buster Brown, and the curly fringe type. The former seems to have been adopted by the brunets, while the blonds have taken to the curl. And their popularity is growing, despite the "official" ruling against them.

"It's just like the short skirt," says Miss Douglas Paine, pretty Atlanta debutante. "They ruled that out for a few short months, but now it's back and this spring and summer dresses are going to be even shorter than ever."

"Women may like to change styles in dresses and hair arrangements, but when they come to one that's sensible and stylish, too, it takes a deep root and a long time must pass before it goes out of date."

STAR'S WEDDING LAST NOVEMBER REVEALED

LOS ANGELES—Evelyn Brent, screen star and leading lady for Douglas Fairbanks, was married to R. P. Fenneman in New York city on November 1, 1922, it was revealed here today. They had planned to keep the wedding a secret until summer, but today they admitted it.

Fenneman is a film producer with headquarters here. His studios adjoin those of Fairbanks.

UNFAIR DEALING IS CHARGED TO SAUNDERS

NEW YORK—Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly Inc., today has the answer of the New York stock exchange to the charge he made that it was "yellow" and a "welcher" in the transactions involving the class A stock in his company. The exchange formal reply was issued last night.

The exchange asserted that it lived up to all its laws and its calls with Mr. Saunders and charged that the president of the grocery company had dealt unfairly with it. In addition, it declared the removal of Piggly Wiggly stock from the trading list and suspension of the exchange rules had averted demoralization of the whole stock market.

Instead of the existence of 25,000 "short" shares, as Mr. Saunders asserted when he called for delivery of his stock, there were only about 11,000 shares, added the exchange statement, making no attempt to account for the discrepancy.

Rev. G. M. Baumgardner, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, spoke on the subject of "Courage" at the noonday luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday.

P. banquet to be given Friday at 6 p. m. when the North Side Deibel-Wenmer girls will entertain the South Side girls. The former are losers in a membership contest. Miss Edna Reiger will give the principal address on "Relation of the P. O. P. Club to the Industrial Federation."

SYNDICATE WILL MAKE PEARLS FROM FISH SCALES

LONDON—Negotiations for the entire available supply of fish-scales in Scotland are being conducted by an American syndicate which has discovered a process whereby the scales may be made up into artificial pearls.

For several weeks members of the syndicate have been touring Scottish ports, buying up the waste fish-scales—principally from herrings, which are considered the best.

They are also acquiring options on factory sites, where the preliminary stages of the pearl-making are to be carried out.

The syndicate plans to treat the fish-scales and compress them by a new process. The compressed scales are to be sent to the United States for finishing.

It has been found that the scales of North Sea herrings are the best in the world for the purpose, and it is stated they have acquired rights to all available herring scales in Aberdeenshire, as well as elsewhere in Scotland.

COGNOVIT JUDGMENTS

Three cognovit judgments were awarded in common pleas court Tuesday in cases filed naming Adam Vandiver defendant. The judgments are to S. W. O. Malvina Vandiver for $412.08, Guy Vandiver for $422.08 and Mrs. Ella Davies, $301.30.

NEW YORK—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company moved another step toward becoming a billion dollar corporation when stock increases were voted at a special meeting of stockholders here today. It was decided to increase the authorized stock from $750,000,000 to $1,300,000,000.

FIGHT FOLLOWS BANK HOLDUP

Thugs Are Barricaded in Hills of Oklahoma

SURROUNDED BY PURSUERS

Thick Underbrush Is Raked by Withering Rifle Fire

TULSA, Okla., (Associated Press).—The chief of the Tulsa aerial police with a newspaper man left here today in an airplane for the wooded hills near Torilton, Okla., where Al Spencer, long sought as the leader of a notorious band of outlaws, was reported early today to be wounded but still at the head of five members of his band now fighting a pitched battle with a large posse.

Crawling slowly up the rugged hillside, a posse of forty men which was held at bay all last night, is gradually closing in from four sides, raking the bandits' retreat with a withering rifle fire.

Momentarily a report of Spencer's death is expected. Veteran officers say he never will be taken alive.

Four men, supposed to have been directed by Spencer, held up and robbed the Mannford State bank at Mannford, Okla., late yesterday. They fled in an automobile closely pursued by the posse of armed citizens. Later their machine broke down and one of the bandits was captured.

MEMBER SLAIN

The other three men took to the hills. There they entrenched themselves among the thick underbrush and boulders and engaged in several sharp skirmishes with the possemen. One of the bandit gang was slain. His body was found when his comrades were driven from their temporary retreat by the fierce fire of their pursuers.

The two surviving robbers held off the posse all night and at dawn today three more men, apparently reserve members of Spencer's band were seen to crawl into the outlaw camp. Immediately the posse sent for 500 more men.

When the call for reinforcements reached here, Chief D. A. McIntyre, of the aerial police, left in his plane to direct from the air the offensive against the bandits. He was accompanied by a local newspaper reporter who saw service as a machine gunner in France.

HIGH SUGAR BLAMED ON FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

WASHINGTON, (United Press).—Charging that the federal reserve board by financing speculators, is responsible to increased sugar prices, Representative King, of Illinois, a member of the house banking and currency committee, today demanded that the board force banks to quit aiding sugar speculators.

"If the federal reserve board refuses to re-discount further notes and acceptances based on sugar transactions and ordered banks not to aid in financing sugar speculation, the price of sugar would drop at once," King said.

TREASURY CERTIFICATES FIND FAVOR WITH PEOPLE

Citizens of Lima are investing liberally in Treasury Savings certificates, according to Postmaster A. E. Gale. Certificates are sold by the postoffice department in denominations of $25, $100 and $1000. The $25 certificates may be purchased for $20.50, the $100 for $82.50 and the $1000 for $820. The paper matures in five years and bears 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded semi-annually. The certificates may be converted into cash at any time, 30 days after purchase. The local postoffice has many calls for all denominations, the most popular being the $100 certificate, Gale says.

WIVES, HERE'S HOW TO KEEP HUBBY

WH Rogers Gives Tips Of Much Value

(By Josephine Van de Grift)
NEW YORK—Meet the wife that's got the greatest competition in the world. She's Mrs. Will Rogers.

Every night her husband steps out and favors around the most remarkable aggregation of grace, charm and pulchritude that the world has ever known—the young women of Mr. Ziegfeld's Follies.

Does Mrs. Rogers get nervous about it?

Not that anybody knows of. Every so often she commutes into New York to see that Will has plenty of clean collars and things and then she commutes back to California to perform a similar service for the Rogers' offspring, Bill, Mary and Jim.

But all the time, she's perfectly calm. And every night, whether the missus is in New York or California,
Will Rogers steps out on the stage and pulls the venerable gag:
"Yeh, I'm one of them movi-actors from Hollywood. But I'm an unusual actor. I been married 15 years and I got the same wife I started with."

Mrs. Rogers gives these tips on how to keep a husband's love under Follies competition.

ONE. Feed him. (Mr. Rogers' favorite dish is beans. As a cowboy he learned to like beans. Does Mrs. Rogers say, "My goodness, Will, I DO wish you'd eat something else?" She does not. She serves beans twice a week.)

TWO. Laugh at his jokes. (Even if they're old ones, she adds.)

THREE. Encourage his hobbies. (Mr. Rogers' hobby is music. He plays the ukelele. And Mrs. Rogers never groans.)

FOUR. Let him wear his old clothes if he wants to. (She says old clothes got Will into the movies.)

DO YOU SUPPOSE HE'LL REALLY KISS 'EM?

This shows General Pershing of the War Department, Washington, the World War. Now, in France, they decorate 'em and—but what's the use of speculating?

A movie producer was going down the street one day wondering where he could pick up a tramp that looked like a tramp. He saw Will Rogers. "Ah," exclaimed Mr. Goldwyn or whoever it was, "the very type!"

Mrs. Rogers says being married to a professional humorist isn't nearly as funny as it may seem.

OHIO SENATE PROBE TO BE RESUMED TODAY

COLUMBUS — The senate investigating committee which has been going into circumstances surrounding the Marshall hotel liability bill, was scheduled to hold another hearing this afternoon. The only witness scheduled to appear before the committee was Ben J. Sawyer, Cleveland attorney, who, in previous testimony, is said to have proposed to W. W. Byers, Cleveland hotel man and member of the legislative committee of the Ohio Hotel Association, that the hotel expenses of Senator J. J. Rowe be paid thru the rendering of a bill for attorney's fees on his account. Hope was expressed by committee members that today's session might be the last but it had not been decided definitely whether or not more witnesses would be called.

SEEK ACTION ON OVERHEAD WORK

City and Rail Officials Confer on Metcalf-st Project

DEMAND CROSSING GUARDS

City Auditor Sellers Resigns—Tag Day Measure Passed

In special session at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, members of the city commission and Manager C. A. Bingham expected a final conference with attorneys and engineers of the L. E. & W. Railroad company, from Indianapolis, on the problem of the construction of the Metcalf-st overhead.

The railroad company has awarded contracts to the American Bridge company for steel for the construction work, but is being held up by lack of cooperation on the part of the city in the general plans. Manager Bingham stated.

"We hope to have the county agree that the work shall go ahead at once," Bingham said. "To eliminate a dangerous grade crossing condition at Metcalf-st."

The plan of constructing a tunnel instead of an overhead at the Metcalf-st crossing of the L. E. & W. has been given up, Bingham said due to the fact that excavation for sewers has disclosed that quicksand exists at that point, which would make it impossible to build a tunnel.

ASK FOR WATCHMEN
Two accidents in two weeks at D. T. & L. railroad grade crossings, City Manager C. A. Bingham stated, is back of the demand to be made of the state public utilities commission that the railroad company be required to place watchmen at the High-st, Bellefontaine-st and L. E. & W. crossings. A truck was crushed by a D. T. & L. train at one of the crossings, and a farmer's buggy was struck at another crossing in the past two weeks, Bingham asserted Tuesday.

"We have appealed to the railroad company and have attached no results," the manager said. "They turned us down. Now we are going direct to the state utilities commission and demand that an investigator be sent here to inquire into conditions. We are satisfied we will secure an order that watchmen be placed at the crossings named."

Evan O. Sellers, acting city auditor, resigned his resignation was accepted at the meeting of the city commission Monday night. No reason was given for his retirement which becomes effective April 1.

TAG DAYS DEFINED
Tag days in Lima are restricted to a maximum of three per year by the passage of an ordinance forbidding the solicitation of gifts on the streets by any organization other than the city hospital, the district tuberculosis hospital and St. Rita's hospital. These organizations are permitted one benefit tag day per year, but none of them may hold a tag day within two months from a similar day by any of the other organizations. The prohibitive measure also exempts the American Legion and the custom of selling poppies on Armistice Day, and the Salvation army which can hold its usual open air religious meetings and establish its gift kettles during the period just before Christmas.

A letter from Elmer McClain, former service director, advocating the shifting of the $30,000 water works sinking fund to use for street improvements was read and referred to the city auditor for an opinion. Mr. McClain was present at the meeting and requested that he be sent a copy of the opinion.

A board of appraisers to estimate the assessment necessary to cover the cost of improving Lakewood-av from Woodlawn-av to Nixon-av, consisting of P. C. Beck, J. I. Motor and John H. Mohr, was appointed. It was decided to resurface S Main-st from market house to Kibby-st. A resolution declaring for the paving of Miller-av from North-st to Market-st was passed.

ISSUE $15,500 BONDS
An ordinance providing for the issuance of $15,500 bonds in anticipation of a special assessment for the purpose of improving Lakewood-av from St. Johns-av to Carlisle-av was passed. Provision for the installation of sewers along various streets now being paved was made and the ordinance passed as an emergency measure. The streets in which sewers will be placed are Grand-av, Metcalf-st to lot 11569, Ohio, Metcalf-st to Belmont-st, Atlantic-av, Ottawa to Ontario-st, Beaver-st from the Pennsylvania R. Road to the Lumber-av, Central-av, Kibby-st to the Ottawa River, Harrison-av to the D. T. & L. Railroad track.

The commission purchased of Herbert V. Shaffer for the sum of $400 right of way thru his property near the Ottawa river and in compensation for damages growing out of the Ottawa river improvements.

WOODSMAN, GUIDE, POET, SARETT THRILLS HEARERS IN HIGH SCHOOL LECTURE

Low Sarett, poet woodsman and guide, thrilled 1200 people at Central high school auditorium Monday evening when he lectured on "Many, Many Moons."

Sarett, who loves and knows the outdoors probably as well as anyone in the United States today, appeared in the costume of a ranger, and gave his talk in the typical language.

One of the big points growing out of the lecture is the manner in which it is possible to gain many wonderful lessons from the great outdoors. He told some of these lessons and added that many of his greatest lessons have come from the woods.

Sarett dwelt at length upon the French-Canadians, their manner-

The Indians and their customs were also pictured by the woodsman. He gave interpretations of Indian dances and customs. This met great favor with the audience.

Sarett's picture of an evening on a river in the North was very interesting. He imitated the sounds of all the birds and animals which were wont to appear in the solitude of evening. A number of poems from his book "Many, Many Moons" were read. Several of the side talks which the woodsman gave proved interesting.

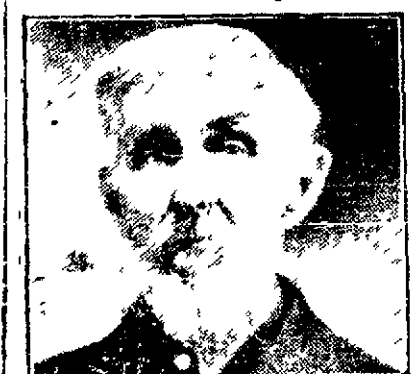

The next and last number of the local lecture course will be "Friendly Enemies," on April 6.

INDORSES IT AS GREAT REMEDY

Round Head, O. Man Says the Plant Juice Relieved Kidney Trouble

AWFUL PAINS IN HIS BACK

Drug men believe that in the history of medicine in Lima, no remedy has ever gained the success in this city that has come to Plant Juice, the new herbal remedy that makes life worth living for modern sufferers and which is being introduced and explained by The Plant Juice Man at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square.

Each day, large crowds of men and women call on The Plant Juice Man to have this surprising remedy explained to them. They come not only from Lima but from cities and towns all over this section as well.

A few days ago, Mr. L. W. Spain, poor Ohio, Ohio R. F. No. 1, was among the people who called to see The Plant Juice Man. He stated that he had already taken the Plant Juice and he gave the following testimony:

"I suffered with my kidneys and had pains in my back for two years," said Mr. Spain. "I would have to get up out of bed several times every night because of my kidneys. I also suffered from bad bloating spells and gas attacks every time I ate a meal and my appetite got so poor that I did not care for anything to eat at all. I was run down in health in general."

"I began to read in the papers about your Plant Juice medicine and finally I decided that it was just what I needed so I had a bottle sent to me. I improved so much on that bottle that I got two more and I am satisfied that your Plant Juice is doing the work in my case. I can now eat most anything I want and do not suffer any distress afterward. My kidneys are improving right along now and the pains in my back are nearly all gone. I sleep fine. I can heartily recommend your Plant Juice to everybody for I believe it is a great medicine."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office—Adv.

SLAIN, RUN THRU MACHINERY

Head of Fertilizer Plant Missing Since Feb. 10

DETROIT—(Associated Press)—Acting on the theory that Joseph A. Campbell, superintendent of a re-daction company who disappeared February 10, was slain and his body destroyed by running it thru machinery used in the manufacture of fertilizer, county authorities today detained George Reynolds, night fireman at the plant.

Investigation is said to have disclosed that the grinding machinery in the plant was in operation from 11 p. m. until 5 a. m. on the night of February 10, contrary to custom. It is declared Campbell and Reynolds were alone in the plant that night and that no evidence can be found that the superintendent ever left the place.

Deputy Sheriff Frank C. Longman, investigating the case, expressed the belief Campbell was slain because he possessed information that machinery is alleged to have been stolen from the plant.

SERGEANT GRANT WINS POLICE TARGET TROPHY

Police Sergeant Harry Grant won the silver loving cup offered by the Windsor jewelry store for the highest average of points in the pistol practice for the month. His average for the four shots is 59.1-4.

Officer William Keller ran him a close second with an average of 58 points. Officer Elmer H. Jones was third with a score of 50.1-2.

Sergeant Grant will keep the cup for one month and if another officer runs up a higher score next month, he will take the trophy for that month. The man with the highest score for six months will keep the cup permanently.

JURY AWARDS VERDICT OF $440 TO THE DEFENDANT IN BOZARTH-DURBIN CASE

Finding in the sum of $349.20 was made by a jury in Judge E. R. Eastman's court Tuesday in favor of Francis W. Durbin, defendant in a $440 action brought by John Bozarth, sign writer. The jury awarded Durbin the sum named as a fee for legal services.

Durbin was employed by Bozarth, testimony showed, to represent him in the disposal of bill board privileges sold to Miles Standish, former mayor, for $3,000.

Durbin also was Bozarth's counsel in litigation between Bozarth and Standish. He held $600 as security for his fee. Bozarth was willing to pay $160 and instituted suit to recover the remaining $440. The jury directed that Durbin pay back $250.80 of the $600 and retain the balance.

SEEK MINISTER FOR PULPIT AT DELPHOS

Efforts are being made by local Lima Presbytery supply committee to secure a minister to fill the pulpit at the Delphos Presbyterian Church Easter Sunday.

Rev. William Surdival, Middlepoint, moderator, was to send an evangelist who has been preaching in Middlepoint, but plans fell thru.

Rev. M. E. Todd, Bluffton, chairman of the Lima Presbytery supply committee, probably will send a minister. The congregation has been without a pastor since February 1, when Rev. G. H. Gibson left for a new charge.

ANNIVERSARY OF FLOOD

TEN years ago this week the Ohio valley was still in the grip of a flood which raged for several days thru lowlands after rivers had broken from their confines. The worst of the spring visitation had passed and the people, stunned by the extent of loss of life and damage to property, were taking stock of results of the inundation.

Ohioans who passed thru the terrors of the 1913 floods will not forget the incidents of that week. A great part of Dayton was under water, 76 people lost their lives and the west side of Columbus was flooded, with 90 lives as the toll of the visitation of high water. All along the courses of the Miami, Scioto, Muskingum and other rivers, there was death and destruction, with 250,000 people driven from their homes.

Today Dayton is guarded against a repetition of such a catastrophe by a $35,000,000 conservancy dam system, while Columbus has spent millions in widening the Scioto river. The flood was swept into Lima by a 50-mile gale. Streets were flooded, basements filled with water, bridges washed away in rivers and creeks and highways damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars.

Only one life was lost in this city as a result of the flood waters, which spread over a wide territory, driving many persons from their homes and creating heavy damage. While the valleys of Ohio were being swept by floods there were days and nights of horror, with rail traffic stopped, phone and telegraph wires down and parts of the state off from communication for days. The rails of the B. & O. tracks rusted from lack of use before traffic could be resumed.

All efforts made by man to prevent damage by the elements are puny when storms rage.

CHINESE

THE 16-year-old Manchou boy, who is emperor of China in name only, has renamed himself Henry and his wife Elizabeth. Possibly he got tired of signing his official title—Ta Ch'ing Kuo Ta Huang Ti. He is intensely interested in all things American. Expressing his admiration of Caucasian ways, he had his queue (pigtail hair) cut off a year ago.

He retains his title as emperor, and the Chinese republic gives him a large allowance for the upkeep of his family and court. But he has been stripped of real power and is isolated in a condition that amounts to imprisonment.

Emperor Henry of China may be powerless but he is one of the world's most interesting characters—a living monument to a great oriental nation's casting aside the monarchical system that ruled it for unknown centuries. The whole world moves toward real democracy.

HEADACHE

OVER 200 world-famed experts are at work on the 150-volume history of the World War that is being compiled by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

It is the most thorough work of its kind ever undertaken. The aim of the writers is to steer clear of causes of the war and the incidents around which bitter controversies have raged. Military operations also are ignored. The history is limited to describing the war's effects on European civilization. For that reason, the part played by United States is left out. Get ready for the book agents.

MARINE DISASTERS

LOST at sea—216 vessels. That was the toll for 1922, just announced. Once this would have been interesting news to everyone. Now most of us yawn. Interest has been transferred to auto, railroad and airplane accidents, except among those bound to the ocean by a business or personal tie.

Within 50 years at most, the airplane will doom ocean transportation.

BULLFIGHT

JACINTO BENAVENTE (not a cigar, but the name of the Spanish author who has written and staged 80 plays) visits America. He says our blood-and-thunder movies and stage melodramas are "intellectual bullfights."

Think it over. Maybe we've been too harsh with the cruel sport of the Spaniards. Mental cruelty is as evil as the real thing.

Lunched with the Rotarians, all merry and brave. President Ed in fine voice. And seeing there many notables, including Tom Pearman and M'leair Charlie Kitts. The state auditor comes thru and shows that Allen county owed slightly over a million in 1908, and has only increased it to slightly over $7,000,000 in 1922. As it figures out every man, woman and child is in debt about $232. Worrying over the public debt isn't nearly so epidemic as worrying over the price of gas.

All the afternoon getting out plans for a ten foot extension to the print shops. To give the boys a clean place to throw their cigarette stubs. Which they sadly need, at the pipes and Bull Durham are having a vogue nowadays. Many a printer gets all run down cranking his benzine wagon.

The trouble with culture is that it's history, and what we are interested in, is the future. We had our eggs for breakfast but will we have two left for supper tonight? Which reminds me of an expert linotypist, bothered by installment collectors. So we went over his debts and found his promises every Saturday night were $24.75, while his salary was only $22. And do you mean to tell me every week I work I'm $2.75 in debt? We did. "Well," says the eminent typist, "right here is where I quit before I go broke." And he did.

It's your creditor you want to keep posted about.

Going to Cedar Point for a week end is one thing, but buying a marriage license for life end, is something entirely different. Which few stenographers realize. Until they find that $20 per week for him, is not as much as $30 for him and $20 for her. THE HEALTH VALUE

One great drawback about trying to teach health thru a newspaper in homoeopathic doses is that the class is forever changing, old pupils quitting, either in disgust or because they begin to apprehend they know about all the teacher pretends he knows, and new pupils joining the class day by day.

Let us explain to today's new pupils that aseptic means germ free, and aseptic technic is the method which the surgeon and his assistants use to prevent infection of wounds and the modern physician and his assistants use to prevent the spread of communicable disease. One of the vitally important differences between even the dependable kind of practical nurse who commands the endorsement of the physicians of her community, and the trained nurse, is the latter's aseptic technic, which makes the trained nurse an indispensable factor in so many cases where, were it not for the grave consequences of infection, a practical nurse might serve very well, for instance, when an operation is to be done or a compound fracture (a broken bone to which germs have possible access thru a wound of the skin or mucous membrane) properly cared for or a family augmented. An aseptic technic sufficiently trustworthy for such work is quite beyond the capabilities of even the most intelligent and conscientious of practical nurses. It demands professional training.

Yet anybody with enough intelligence to try to keep flies away from food—nowadays many of us have moments of unease by reason of the flies—may, without becoming at all flaccid, develop a personal aseptic technic which affords real security against chance infection with disease.

Remember that this aseptic technic means cleanliness as regards invisible "dirt," microbes, not the mere removal or avoidance of visible "dirt" which is often enough quite harmless. As I have suggested on other occasions, some of our cleanest people (in the visible sense) are the dirtiest (in a sanitary sense.) I hope that is quite clear, for it means much in reference to the aseptic conscience I am striving to arouse.

If the use of antiseptics in the mouth or throat or nose conferred protection against infectious or germ diseases there would be no need to bother about personal asepsis. If the filling of the house or sickroom with any kind of vapor, smoke, gas or fumigant really prevented the spread of infectious diseases we might touch off some fireworks each night and morning and save ourselves all the labor of keeping clean.

A word to the soap manufacturers should be sufficient. I fear they have overlooked an opportunity to popularize soap. For a people who boast so much about bathing as we Americans do, we have a very low per capita soap consumption. For a people so fond of "sanitary" conditions we support a disgracefully large number of lunch rooms and other places where food is eaten

PRAISE

Just speak it out, when you're a kindly thought.
Don't let it die unspoken. Give it voice!
Don't stand in silence, wondering if you ought To praise another. Let his heart rejoice.

Has someone pleased you, quickly tell him so!
Be not afraid of critics wise who sneer;
He will be brave who has come to know
That one with faith in him is standing near.

Be not ashamed of friendship's kindly ways,
Do not hold back the words which love suggests;
All men are happier for another's praise,
Lost is the joy we lock within our breasts.

Now is your chance to set his eyes aglow,
To strengthen him who may be growing weak.
Have you enjoyed his friendship? Tell him so!
Tomorrow it may be too late to speak.

THRILLS, THOUGHT, SATIRE MAKE LLOYD FILM

(BY GERTRUDE GILLMAN)
HAROLD LLOYD'S "Safety Last" is a complete exposition of the powers of the motion picture. No other medium could possibly work such direct effect upon the spectator.
Apparently Lloyd scales a 12-story building, surmounting obstacles that a human could hardly overcome.
Clutching at crevices in the wall he is beset by several pigeons intent upon eating pop corn that has fallen upon his hat and shoulders. He clings there, high above the ground, with one hand, while he wards off the attacks of the birds.
Up he climbs, meeting new hazard at each floor. He clutches at the hands of a clock. The face of the clock slips from its fastenings.
He is lagged by one foot with a rope from a flag pole and swung like a pendulum at a dizzy height.
These and many other episodes furnish a swift succession of thrills which lasts for more than three reels. The excitement is almost more than one can bear, even one who is in on the resources of film illusion.
I do not profess to know just how Lloyd accomplished all that was apparently done. I am sure all who see the film will believe that Lloyd actually did everything he appears to have done.
"Safety Last" is much more than a mere thrill picture. In the episodes in which Lloyd appears as a store clerk trying to make good for his sweetheart he shows deep penetration into human psychology.
His job isn't much, but like all lovelorn youths he tries to make his sweetheart believe that he is very important. He spends all his money on presents to send back to her. She comes to see him at the store.
He must make good his bluff. He poses as manager of the store. He works his superiors to his own ends, making it appear to his girl that he dictates to them. It is in these episodes that Lloyd does the best acting he has yet shown on the screen.
Thrill movies generally are of more interest to men than to women. They present physical courage that all men think they have, but haven't. Every man has his irrational moments when he believes he would like to risk his neck at some foolhardy experiment just to call attention to his physical courage.
Lloyd has balanced this masculine appeal with a very deft satire of women in "Safety Last." He shows them in a bargain-counter rush, in which ladies forget they are ladies. He has succeeded in accomplishing that rare situation in which women laugh at women. In no other comedy that comes to mind at the moment has satire been so sharply drawn.
The reason for Lloyd's wide-spread popularity lies in something beyond his personality and his acting ability. He is a master of his craft. He is one of the few men engaged in making pictures who have a full grasp of the potentialities of the moving silhouette as a medium of expression. The stories of his films are unlike any stories that have ever been written. The action of his pictures is unlike the action of anything ever done outside the medium of the screen.
The future of the screen depends on such men as Lloyd. Picture producers must come to a definite understanding of the instruments with which they are working if the art of the cinema is to advance. Chaplin, Lloyd and only a very few others have had understanding at this time.

HAROLD LLOYD THRILLING BROADWAY IN "SAFETY LAST."

Lyric to Flash "Brass"

CONTRARY to reviews on "Brass" published some time ago are the reports on the latest Warner Brothers screen classic, in the New York and Boston newspapers. Without exception the Boston and New York critics acclaim this new of the biggest and best productions of the year and all agree that Sidney Franklin's work in directing "Brass" is masterful. "Sidney Franklin succeeded where others would have failed in putting into picture form the story of Philip Baldwin and Marjorie Jones," said the critic in the Boston Telegram. "Continuing he says, 'If honest applause is any criterion of the true worth of a photoplay, "Brass" ranks among the greatest of American screen productions. The reception accorded it by the first night audience was remarkable and will long be remembered by all who heard it.'"

Last Day For "Fury" at Sigma

WITH the showing at the Sigma theatre for the final times today of the new Richard Barthelmess First National picture, "Fury," another notable screen reputation is marked. In "Fury" the film version of Edmund Goulding's novel of that name Dorothy Gish is seen again in a role opposite that of the star. Not since "Way Down East" and "Broken Blossoms" have these two screen sweethearts been seen together in a photoplay production. Manager Ritzler has altered his

Robert E. Sherwood, the well known critic of the New York Herald, says: "Brass is a singularly sincere, truthful and interesting picture. In this picture appears a realistic episode in the lives of several average couples, therefore placing a tremendous burden upon the director and members of the cast. This burden is borne manfully. All the players in 'Brass' are deserving of unusual credit. We aren't usually moved to enthusiasm by pictures of this kind. As a rule, they are painfully trite and rubber stamped. But 'Brass' is different; it is thoroughly worth while."
"Brass" will be seen at the Lyric theatre soon and Marie Prevost, the star of the production is said to do the best work of her career both as the pleasure loving, irresponsible, child and as the remorseful woman.

"Tangerine" Coming to Faurot April 4

LIMA playgoers should be especially interested in the coming to the Faurot Opera House of "Tangerine," on April 4, the musical play that has probably created wider enthusiasm than any work of a light order presented in New York in recent years. Its run of more than a solid year at the Casino theatre in that city during which every box office record of the house for big business, was broken, attests its attractiveness and vitality. "Tangerine" was produced by Carle Carlton, who sponsored "Irene" of fragrant memory. Mr. Carlton's experience with that play convinced him that the great play of discriminating theatregoers had become insufferably bored with inane "girl shows" masquerading as musical comedies and were eager and willing to welcome wholeheartedly a play having real merit as a comedy when provided with lyrics and a musical setting that gave pleasurable added value without destroying the continuity of the story. "Irene" was such a delightful surprise from this point of view that when Mr. Carlton declared his new offering, "Tangerine," was another step forward in the same direction, it was awaited with keen interest. How well he succeeded is theatrical history, and "Tangerine" enjoys a vogue incomparable. The company that will be seen at the Faurot Opera House has been formed by Mr. Carlton with great care, and among the more prominent members of the cast are Loretta Sheridan, a beautiful and gifted actress and soprano, and Sam Critcherson, a handsome leading man and tenor, last season with Al Jolson.

SCENE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL BAYERS, noted criminal and NORMAN GREY, once of Scotland Yard, when Bayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Bayers' wife and accomplice in the Leeds bank robbery. Michael narrowly escapes capture and is forced to flee the country. Janet receives a legacy of two hundred and fifty pounds and takes passage to Marseilles. During the journey she makes friends with a Mr. Popple, who warns her to keep away from a passenger named Louis Martin. Louis visits Janet's stateroom and reveals himself as one of Michael's confederates. A wireless comes to Louis in care of Janet.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

JANET IS TALKING

"Wait here," she ordered, snatching the message from my hand. There was a heavy swell that night, and I was glad to sit down upon my bunk. She returned in a very few moments. Her cheeks were flushed. She handed me back the message. Underneath it she had penciled the interpretation: "Danger 97 it must be dealt with promptly Louis."

I looked at it and shook my head. "I suppose I am a fool," I admitted, "but I can't understand a word."

"You are a fool," she agreed. "No wonder. Michael never trusted you with a code! It means that some one dangerous must be traveling in Stateroom 97, who must be dealt with promptly by me—Louis—my name. Do you understand now?"

"But how could Michael know that I was on the steamer, and why should he have sent this message to me instead of to you?" I demanded.

"The chief of police at Marseilles has a copy of every passenger list of steamers leaving London and sailing at Marseilles forwarded overland," she replied. "Michael has a friend in the Bureau. It is possible that I am being watched. He knew quite well that I should find you out, and that I should be of more use than you were likely to be. Now to discover who is traveling in Stateroom 97."

She called to the steward, who was passing outside. He unhooked the door and looked in.

"Steward, can you tell me the name of the gentleman in No. 97?" she inquired.

"Mr. Popple, madam — an American gentleman," he announced.

"What are you going to do?" I asked.

She smiled in a peculiar fashion. "Okey Michael," she answered softly. Next morning, Mr. Popple came over and talked to me again. He had shown me from the first a considerable amount of attention, but his conversation had always been of the most ordinary kind. This morning, however, in the midst of a discussion on ladies' footwear, he broke off and addressed me in different fashion.

"So you're making friends with the woman who looked at the Gibraltar?" he remarked.

"I shouldn't have said so," I replied cautiously.

"She was in your stateroom last night, wasn't she?" he queried.

"For a moment or two," I admitted. "Why not?"

He watched the smoke from his cigar thoughtfully.

"I guess you've got common sense enough to take a word of advice," he said. "Here it is. Keep out of it."

"Keep out of what?" I demanded. He shrugged his shoulders.

"That's a fine shoal of porpoises," he observed, looking over the side of the ship. "I don't know as I've ever seen a finer in these waters."

"In other words—" I ventured smiling.

"Incident closed," he declared.

GUESS I AM SICK, 'DOC' JUST STEP AROUND TO MY STATEROOM WITH ME FOR A MOMENT

closer together, their voices dropped. Popple, as they passed, began to smile. It was obvious that an affair was in progress. I was surprised, therefore, to hear Mr. Popple suddenly address the doctor, who had joined me again for a few minutes.

"Just a moment, 'Doc'."

We stopped at once. Mr. Popple seemed to rise with difficulty to his feet.

"Guess I am sick, 'Doc.' Just step round to my stateroom with me for a moment."

Mr. Popple suddenly very pale, away on his feet and clutched at the doctor's arm. I expected every moment to see him collapse. We all turned to Louis. She shook her head, apparently as bewildered as the rest of us.

"We had just finished our coffee," she explained. "When Mr. Popple, who had been talking a great deal, became silent. He spoke of a pain in his head, and I thought he seemed queer. Then he called out to the doctor. That is all I know about it."

By degrees the others melted away. I sank into Mr. Popple's vacant chair. As soon as we were alone, Mrs. Louis Martin looked at me covertly. There was a flash of triumph in her half-closed eyes.

"So!" she murmured. "I do not think that Mr. Popple will follow me about Marseilles."

"Do you mean that you have poisoned him?" I gasped.

She looked at me with a queer little smile.

"Some," she said, "prefer to shoot. I choose the way of safety."

Then I knew that Michael had told her everything. In that moment, all that I had ever felt of love for him turned to hate.

We entered the harbor at Marseilles late on the following morning, and drifted down on our way to the dock. We stood leaning over the side, waiting, prepared to land, but waiting for the gendarmes at the farther end of the gangway to give the word. Suddenly I felt a thrill pass thru my whole body. Leaning with his back to one of the wooden pillars was a man with tanned, almost swarthy skin, lean-faced, with a hungry, wolflike droop of his thin lips. He was shabbily dressed even for a laborer. Yet I knew Michael, and although he never glanced again in my direction, I knew that he had recognized me. I made my way to where Louis was standing, and I touched her on the arm.

"Look there," I said, directing her attention cautiously toward the lounging figure.

She looked at him for a moment without interest. Then suddenly the change came into her face. She clutched at my arm.

"There is danger," she muttered. "He has been obliged to flee. Alas, our week at the Villa exists no longer!"

A moment afterward, there was a movement toward the gangway. I followed the others off the ship, and waited until a magnificent-looking functionary, smelling of garlic, had made mystic signs with a piece of chalk upon my modest trunk. The porter shouldered it and turned to me for instructions.

"A carriage to the Hotel Splendide," I directed.

I was on the point of entering it when I felt a touch upon my arm.

"He insists upon seeing you," she whispered in a low tone.

"Where are you going?"

"To the Hotel Splendide," I told her, with a sinking heart.

"I shall fetch you tonight at six o'clock."

"Why does Michael want to see me?" I asked reluctantly.

"One does not ask Michael questions," she answered with a sneer. "You should have caught that out by this time."

As if as the an ugly cloud were looming over this wonderful holiday of mine, and I spent a restless and unsatisfactory afternoon. At six o'clock Louis came for me in a small fiacre, and we drove slowly and with horrible jolts into one of the foulest seacoast slums one could imagine. I began to feel fear.

"Where are we going?" I demanded.

"To the only place where Michael can hide in safety," Louis replied. "Even the police of Marseilles would scarcely dare to seek him here."

We stopped at last at the end of a dark and narrow street, a place so squalid and unsavory that I hesitated to leave the vehicle. Louis, however, elbowed me out and half-pushed, half-conducted me along an entry, with a high wall on either side, a slimy place with the swish of waves distinctly audible. At the extreme end, and she pushed open a door on the left-hand side. We found ourselves in a cafe of the poorest class, with sanded floors and iron table. A woman, fat and with a hideous face, stood behind the bar.

Louise went straight to the woman and whispered in her ear. The woman, who had at last the four chins, nodded ponderously and smiled, showing a row of yellow, discolored teeth. She glanced cautiously around the place, as tho to make sure that no stranger was amongst her clientele. Then, with a fat, beringed finger, she beckoned us behind the counter and led us down some steps, along a passage, into a somber and fearsome-looking apartment tardily furnished, with a cracked gilt mirror upon the marble-piece, walls reeking with damp, and some violet plush chairs of incredible shabbiness. In the center was a bed, and upon it Michael was seated, still in his disguise of a French overcoat, but with a new look upon his face — the hunted, desperate look of a man at bay.

"You devil!" he said to me slowly and menacingly. "It is you who have brought your damned lover-policeman here!"

"It is false," I replied. "I came to Marseilles for a holiday only."

"A holiday!" Michael repeated bitterly.

WHO FIRST FELT "LIKE A FIGHTING COCK"?

COCK-FIGHTING was born with the cock.

But it is only 80 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock."

Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world — all feeling "like a fighting cock!"

It happens this way. A person half sick with indigestion, with a heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity — and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

LETTER FROM ALICE HAMILTON TO BETTY STOKLEY

You can imagine, dear Betty, how thrilled I was to get a cablegram from you. I had never even seen a real cablegram before, let alone receiving one, and just think, dear, it was relayed to me from New York by wireless.

It was a good thing that I happened to be alone at the house when it came, as mother would certainly have made me confess all.

Your idea is splendid. The moment I received the cablegram I made arrangements to meet Karl Whitney at tea at the Country Club. His voice was full of repressed excitement when I told him I thought I had hit upon the plan.

When I first told it to him he seemed a little dubious.

"Someone," he said, "who is a connoisseur of pearls will surely see them, and the conspiracy will be all off."

But I finally talked him over and he agreed to it. I really think secretly he wanted Leslie to know and just keep it to herself, but I know my own sex well enough to know that a loving young bride tells her husband everything and a sensible old wife tells him nothing.

Karl had the pearls in a case in his pocket. Betty and you never saw such gorgeous things in your life. Think of it! Sixty lustrous, luxurious, lovely pearls, and not one of them cost less than two thousand dollars!

Don't you wish you had someone who loved you well enough and was rich enough to make you a present like that?

If I had been Les I don't think I ever could have resisted Karl. Personally, I think him much nicer than the man she is going to marry.

But as we have said to each other often times, one never can tell just why or when or with whom one will fall in love. The only thing one will know about it is that one is in love.

It seems strange, Betty, to be treated as a grown-up young woman by one of Les' sisters, but, of course, now that my older sister is to be married, and I am seventeen years old, it is right that I should take my place in society.

I'll tell you, honestly, however, that I'll never have a grand wedding. I think they are all foolishness.

It really seems to me like making an awful bluff, when you do not yet know the value of your hand. Think how you feel after a year or two you would want to get a divorce and the papers would all refer back to your wonderful wedding.

No, I'm determined that I shall elope when I marry. But I haven't seen anyone yet that I am in love with—at least I do not get hot and cold when some good looking chap comes into the room. I've tried to be thrilled with a lot of chaps, but it would not work. Guess I'm too practical to fall in love. Even when Karl Whitney took both my hands in his and, looking down into my eyes, said in the most impressive manner—"dear little Alice, I didn't think it was possible that any girl of your age could be so sympathetic and understanding"—my heart didn't miss a beat.

Won't it be glorious while Les is being married for me, at the very end of the hideous row, to look across at Karl Whitney, who is one of the ushers, and then let my glance rest for a moment on the glorious string of pearls on Les' neck (for I'm going to insist upon her wearing them) before sending him another look of deepest sympathy and understanding?

I and I only shall know how he is experiencing "a feeling of sadness and longing"—because the only woman he will ever love is unknownly wearing a gift that he has been preparing for her for years, as she takes upon herself the vows of eternal fidelity to another man.

Oh, Betty, isn't it glorious? I do not think that any other girl in all the world ever had a real romance like this flung at her. You may write it, but I am a part of the living of it.

What do you mean by complications? I'm crazy to see your book. Are you really going to have this one of the things that happens to your heroine? I shall feel quite like a real author.

I'm going to keep your cablegram, however, because some time I might want to tell it to my grandchildren just to show them that when I was young I took part in a real love story right out of a novel—one that was really and truly alive. You are a dear thing to help me out with the plan. I should never have thought of it.

Don't stay abroad too long. Now that I'm really a grown-up young lady and Les is out of the way we could have an awful lot of fun if you were here.

With lots of love,

GRID CANDIDATES IN SIGHT AT C. H. S.

When first call for football candidates is issued by Coach Thibault at Central High next fall he will have more than forty men who have had some experience in 1922 and previous years. Local officials say the outlook is bright.

According to Captain-elect Tony Betz many of last year's second and third team men are left and will be formidable material for the 1923 variety. Some of them have been in one or more games while others are comparatively new in action altho they have had some of the fundamentals.

The list of probable leading candidates for the team shows an abundance of live material, especially guards and tackles. Many of the school's huskies will turn out for these positions and if beef and brawn can be moulded into a star pigskin outfit Central should have some real aggregations in the next few years.

With the graduation of Pelletier, Drew and Burdette, the Red and Green backfield will be in rather poor shape. Taylor and Michael will be the mainstays of this year's backfield from present indications.

A list of probable candidates follows:

Ends: King, Poling, Wolf, Dean, McDonald, Staup, Katchka, Linemen: Stanley, Lohmiller, Roush, Shumaker, John, Kelsel, Clapper, Herbst, Frots, H. Betz, Burr, Blattner, Schneider, Funks, Center: Weaver, Yingling, Bowsher, Speer, Full backs: Michael, Van Horn, Walker, Taylor, Ray, Winkler, Half backs: Edging, Wetherill, Cobb, Hughes, Miller, Heller, Cider, Dole, Kuhn, Quarterbacks: Welty, Hunter.

Does Phantom Indian Guide Colt To Victory On Turf?

NEW ORLEANS — Does the phantom of an old Indian, who died of a broken heart, flit about the race track, breathing assurance into the ear of Black Gold, one of the sensations of this year's racing, assurances that cause the game little horse to leave his contenders trailing in the dust?

Here is the story as it is told in the world of horseflesh and is believed by thousands of men and women who back their choice of horses with their greenbacks.

Some years ago a familiar figure on the turf was a pure-blooded Cherokee from Oklahoma, who discarded his aboriginal monicker and substituted therefor the rather prosaic name of H. M. Hoots. Many a fast pony he had picked up on the plains he entered against the blue bloods of the turf.

He came into possession of a little mare whom he called Useett. The Indian spirit almost his entire time with the little mare. He talked to her in the Indian tongue and she seemed to understand. He slept in the stable with her every night for fear some illness might overtake her while he was away, some enemy might try to dope her or, worse still, there might by chance be a fire and Useett would perish. She was as fleet as the wind and she had almost an uncanny ability to get away from the barrier ahead of her opponents and leap over against the rail for advantage.

Then a terrible thing happened. Hoots, unknowingly, entered Useett in a claiming race, under the rules of which any horse in the contest may be bought at a certain figure. The little mare showed a tremendous burst of speed that day and flashed under the wire an easy victor. Useett was "claimed" Hoots was wild over the thought of parting from his favorite. He attempted to buy off the purchaser, but the man was obdurate.

And when he learned that he must either give up Useett or racing, he took Useett with him back to his home, barred forever from the turf along with his favorite mare. Grief over the outcome of the claiming race finally brought the big Cherokee face to face with death.

"I'm going soon," he told his wife, "There's not much left for you but Useett. Useett will bear a son that will not be barred from the track. I shall be with Useett's son always. I will encourage him, I will urge him on." And then he went to the Happy Hunting Grounds.

Mrs. Hoots followed the injunction of her late husband and Useett was bred to a famous Kentucky stallion. The offspring was a lean, limbed, coal-black colt that seemed to combine all of the better characteristics of his pony mother and his aristocratic sire. In January of this year, when the Fair Grounds track opened at New Orleans, Mrs. Hoots sent the horse there where he was placed under the care of H. Webb, an experienced trainer.

When the big day came for Black Gold to enter his first race he was off like the wind with all of the spirit of his Indian mother, flitting around the course, finishing a winner and hardly blowing. The next race was a defeat. Black Gold had a nail in his foot and the discovery was not made until too late.

Then came his big sensation a few days ago at Jefferson Park, when he pounded out the 3 1-2 furlongs in 49 4-5, the fastest time ever made over that distance on a track that is in existence today.

In setting the mark at Jefferson Park, Black Gold stepped the first furlong in 11 4-5.

When Black Gold is entered now he is almost always an odds-on favorite. His speed as a colt is uncanny and the "wise ones" know it is the phantom of the old Indian that urges him on and makes him win.

JESS, FIRPO: Good Chance Is Seen For U. S. In FIRST TRACK WORK TODAY

MAY FIGHT

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. — (Associated Press) — Jess Willard, conditioning here for his bout with Floyd Johnson, at New York May 12 now smokes at a day's drudgery, altho it was a painful and tedious job when he started two weeks ago to work back to the form he fondly hopes will bring him a return bout with Jack Dempsey, who wrestled from him the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

Eight miles a day over the hilly roads of this region is an important bit of the daily grind and the former champion's ponderous legs are said to be showing the strengthening effects of the routine.

Willard is willing, he said today, to meet Firpo the South American, if necessary to obtain a match with Dempsey.

Crowds assemble daily to watch Willard at work. Jess arises at six o'clock, takes his eight miles on the hilly roads and after a shower bath and an hour under the hands of his rubber, rests until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He then punches the bag for three rounds, boxes four rounds with sparring partner, Harry Drake, of London, does four rounds of shadow boxing, clinches his shoulders and improves his wind and finishes up ring work with three or four rounds of exercise. After that he takes a shower and remains on the ubbing table until 6 p. m.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS NOTES

NEW ORLEANS

Six rookies have been picked by Miller Liggett to start the season on the bench with the New York Yankees. Harvey Hendricks, Hinkley Haines and O. D. Tucker will do outfield reserve, Johnny Wright will serve as utility infielder, and Bernie Bengough and George Arins will fill in the catching department. Liggett has made no decision about pitcher.

SAN ANTONIO

After giving a private workout to Jack Bentley, the $65,000 Baltimore pitcher, Manager McGraw said he felt confident that he would make the grade with the Giants.

SEATTLE

Every minute of playable weather this week is being utilized by the Chicago White Sox in a final effort to round the team into condition by the time the permanent camp here is broken up Friday. Continual high winds and rains have been exceptionally hard on the Sox pitchers.

ATHENS, Ga.

The Defiant Tigers suffered defeat yesterday at the hands of the Rochester International League team, the score being 5 to 3. Veach, Hellmann and Pratt each hit for a pair of singles.

ORLANDO, Fla.

Three Reds, Staley, Rosenburg and Rodriguez, will be left with the Orlando team when the Reds break camp here Wednesday night. The veterans defeated Daytona and the colts trimmed Orlando in games yesterday.

LAKELAND, Fla.

The Indians will be in Clearwater today for another fling at the Brooklyn club. During the 7 to 2 beating the Indians administered to the Phillies, Umpire Holmes chased Manager Art Fletcher for rowdy conduct. Now Fletcher says he will not permit Holmes to umpire the game at Leesburg. Judge Landis backs Holmes.

FIELD AGAIN THIS YEAR One of Lima's crack amateur teams has again put a shine in the field and is ready to take on any team of its calibre in the city. The Lima Shamrocks have been playing a neat game of ball for the past few years and players are anxious to get at it again this season.

Many of last year's regulars are on the list, including Daley, Wells, McNamara, Hughes and others. Managers desiring games are requested to call Jerry Fogarty, 538 N. West-st.

BOWLING RECORDS TUMBLE

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — (Associated Press) — A world's record all-events total held first place in the American Bowling Congress Tournament today, the 2003 rolled by M. MacDowell of Cleveland, Ohio. MacDowell who is one of Cleveland's best, carried an average of 205 for 200 games last year and is averaging 215 for 90 games in league play this year. The last twelve years he has made 13 perfect scores and last year made 27 consecutive strikes in three games for totals of 278, 290 and 278.

His singles total of 713 yesterday put him in second place in that event. F. Chalcraft a member of the Schwabel-Pollak Poster team of Buffalo, rolled into second place in the all-events with 1945 for his nine games.

The only other change yesterday was in the team event, the People's Gas Club team No. 1 of Chicago shooting into fifth place with a total of 2914.

GATE REGULATION AT FAIRVIEW IN QUESTION

Devotees of the Isaac Walton art are again working up enthusiasm over the proposed regulation of gates at Lakeview. Some people want the gates opened in winter and the sportsmen want them closed at all times.

Agitation along this line has been keen for the past few years and along with the preliminary polishing of rods comes the question of lake regulation.

It seems that certain private interests in that section would have the gates open in winter and closed in summer. This is said to be for the purpose of protecting private property. The sportsmen of the vicinity take exception as they claim that if the gates are closed fishing would be helped.

ST. ROSE YOUNGSTERS TO BATTLE ST. GERARDERS

St. Rose eighth grade baseball team will take the field in its first game of the season Thursday afternoon, stacking up against St. Gerard's eighth graders.

LIMA OPTOMETRISTS DOUBT RACE WILL BE BLIND WITHIN 200 YEARS

ALTHO skeptical of the statement of Dr. Harry C. Paul, president of the Illinois State Board of Optometrical examiners, to the effect that within 200 years the race will be stone blind if present defective vision is not checked, Lima optometrists concur in the opinion that changed conditions of environment are doing much to weaken the vision of citizens.

The statement that 60 per cent of the American people are suffering from poor eyes is an underestimate by thirty per cent in the opinion of W. Fenstermaker.

"Eighty per cent of my patients wait until they are virtually forced to come in," he stated. Much of the trouble would be averted if they took reasonable care of the eyes and made allowance for the changed environment.

"Man is fundamentally an outdoor animal and his eyes are suffering under the strain of artificial illumination, of constant glare, both inside and outside," A. G. C. Jacob explained. "As to the human race going stone blind within 200 years, I doubt it. Science is keeping pace with altered surroundings. I can see an analogy in the coal supply and the supply of human eyesight. Sometime the coal supply is going to be exhausted. Likewise it is conceivable that human vision will be gradually diminished. But it is a long way off."

MYOPIA BLAMED

According to the statement of Dr. Paul, myopia or nearsightedness is the cause of about every form of human ill from headaches to insanity. He blames myopia for most social and business failures and for divorces. He believes that a good optometrist could do a lot to reunite unhappily mated couples. No statistics are available as to the number of home disruptions averted by Lima optometrists, however.

Among the rules he advocates for the preservation of the eyes and thus for a happy life are the following pertinent pointers:

Don't read on trains or street cars.
Don't be ashamed to wear your glasses.
Don't smoke too much or take any chances on the booze float today.
Don't read more than a half hour without an interruption to roll your eyes from ceiling to floor to exercise all the muscles.

FAIL TO CONNECT COMMUNISTS

Link With Russia Attempted at Foster Trial

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — (United Press).—Attorneys prosecuting William T. Foster failed today in efforts thru testimony of defense witnesses, to connect communists in Russia with those of America.

C. W. Gore, cross-examining Charles E. Ruthenberg, star witness for Foster, on trial for alleged violation of the Michigan syndicalist law, asked:

"Is it not true that Boris Reinstein attested the Bridgeman communist convention as an official representative of the red trade union internationale of Moscow?"

"Not officially," the witness replied.

"But he was there in the interest of the red trade union internationale?" asked Gore.

"He is connected with that organization."

"Well, he was there officially?" the attorney asked.

"Hardly officially," Ruthenberg answered, explaining that Reinstein was in America on other business and was invited to come to Bridgeman as a fraternal delegate.

Foster, Ruthenberg and many associates were indicted following the Bridgeman convention.

Ruthenberg testified when the communists party of America was formed, the principles of the communist internationale were adopted in substance as the basis of the branch in this country.

Referring to a document purporting to be a report of a committee of the communists Gore asked:

"Is it not a fact that a man named Parr, known in this country as E. L. Katterfeld, who was one of the signers of this document was in Russia to get the soviet viewpoint for adoption in the United States?"

"I do not know that," the witness replied.

"You know he was officially there for the communist party of America?"

"No, I do not."

Ruthenberg, remaining calm thru the exhaustive examination, now going into the third day, thus evaded all efforts of defense attorneys to obtain damaging admissions. Prosecuting attorneys several

CHARGE OF THEFT BRINGS DENIAL

Woman Pleads Not Guilty, Held As Shoplifter

Mrs. Bessie Mullen, 50, of 602 N. Main-st, pleaded not guilty in police court Tuesday morning, to a charge of grand larceny. She was bound over to the grand jury, under bond of $1,000, which was furnished.

Police say she had confessed to a systematic shoplifting career, which started last Christmas and netted her hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise from local stores.

Her arrest came about Monday afternoon thru an employee of the Delsel store, when she entered the store, wearing a hat alleged to have been stolen there some time ago. She was trailed to the Main-st crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad, where she was placed under arrest by Plainclothesmen Blair and Keller.

Police recovered loot from her home, they claim, which has been stolen from the Delsel store, the Leader store, the Boston store, Gordon's, Leiser's, Gooding's shoe store and Gregg's during the past few months.

In the collection were dresses, coats, valuable fur neck pieces, several pairs of shoes, curling irons, hats, bathing caps and underwear.

Police claim she was not stealing the merchandise to sell, but merely to have good clothes to wear. Her operations were carried on with the aid of a large paper shopping bag, police say.

A bank book shows that she deposited $500 at a local bank during the year, but police claim this money did not come from the sale of stolen merchandise.

Local merchants from different stores in the city called at police headquarters Tuesday to claim their money. Nearly all of it was identified.

LONDON.—(United Press).—A new warning to Germany was issued today by the French military commander at Duesseldorf, according to dispatches received here.

OFFICER ARRESTED

LONDON.—(Associated Press).—The French authorities in the Ruhr today arrested Lieutenant Otto Steinhilber, named in the allied extradition list as commander of the German U-boat 18 which torpedoed the passenger steamship Sussex in March, 1916, says a Central News dispatch from Duesseldorf today.

The Sussex, a British cross channel steamer, was torpedoed without warning on March 24, 1916, and was later towed into a French port in a damaged condition. About fifty lives were lost. Thirty Americans among the passengers were saved.

Germany promised severe punishment of the submarine commander, but no account was ever received of this punishment being carried out.

J. H. Judkins, Delphos realtor, reports a shy young man in his neighborhood was given an apple to eat in a parlor.

"He didn't see any place to put the core," says Judkins, "so he ate that too—seeds, stem and all."

Jim Shockey, Wapakoneta, former Augline-co sheriff, tells about a neighbor boy who bought a hound dog with extra long ears, for $1.

His father wouldn't let him keep the dog. Not on account of the length of the dog's ears, but the length of the wind when it started to howl.

Earl Rohn, city commissioner, sat at work at his desk, smoking a cigar, while the contents of a waste basket near him went up in smoke, causing a great smoke.

"I thought the smoke came from my cigar," says Rohn, "but I couldn't imagine the weed was as bad as that, either."

Chief of Police Henry Kehres of Delphos records the adventure of a merchant from that city. The business man and his wife went for a visit in Cleveland.

He also celebrated the day by taking an extra bath at his hotel. His wife waited below, and waited and waited. Finally she sent a bell boy to ask what kept her husband.

The bell boy found the merchant had somehow managed to lock himself in the bath room, so he couldn't get out. There he sat on the edge of the bath tub, wrapped in a bath towel.

"A six-foot, lanky, half-stewed fellow came leading a skinny old cow up to the door of the gasoline station," H. C. Austin, of Pine and Kibb, says.

"He said, 'Want to buy a good cow?' On being told that she was hardly fat enough, the man didn't answer, as he moved on. 'She may not be the fattest thing on earth, but she's a mighty good cow.'"

Charley Hanes, game warden, tells about a neighboring farmer who went out to his barnyard to feed his flock of hens, during the open season for rabbits.

What should he see there but a cat rabbit.

He rushed back into the house for his gun. As soon as he got it he let fly at the rabbit. He missed the rabbit by a foot or two, but popped over a fine hen. He shot a second time. A cat jumped out from behind the fence and raced under the hen, badly scared, but fortunately not hurt.

The farmer was going to try again.
